

NOVEMBER Meeting

Hands-on Quill Cutting

The best way to learn a skill and improve on it is to learn from the best, and then pass on your education to others. That's what is happening during the November 17 meeting.

Gary Feyen, Dave Johnson and Louise Rogers have taken advantage of the expertise of George Yanagita and studied quill cutting with him—and are now fulfilling George's wish that they share what he has taught them.

George's hand-made quill knives are used and treasured by many, including Donald Jackson. George has taught quill cutting at conferences and other gatherings.

BRING: Any quill carving tools you may have.

SUPPLIED: Goose feathers, sand for tempering, some borrowed knives, tweezers, and cutting surfaces. ❖
